

Against the dark tapestry of the Albigensian crusade, the shining light of Occitania

Occitania in the 13th century: A blossoming culture, a land of tolerance, mobility and equality, a land of music and laughter, a land of love and romance. The Albigensian Crusade: A jealous pope, a greedy king, began a war of genocide against the gentle people there - The Good Christians, the Cathars. But some resisted and fought to keep alive the Light of civilization and of Pretz and Paratge. This is their story, a song that will touch your heart and transport you back in time to the land of Occitania in the 13th Century, Adieussiatz.
